CINCINNATI REDS, BASEBALL'S FIRST PROFESSIONAL TEAM, TO PLAY LEADING ROLE IN LEAGUE'S 75TH ANNIVERSARY

The year 1951 will be a big one for the National League!

The senior circuit is planning a gala celebration to commemorate its 75th birthday and rightfully so. It's a highly significant occasion.

And along the banks of the Ohio, in the Queen City of the West and its environs — where the good burghers follow their Cincinnati Reds with a zest and a zeal unmatched anywhere — the event takes on added significance.

And why not! They're mighty proud of the fact that their town is the birthplace of professional baseball and that the original Cincinnati Red Stockings were solely instrumental in launching the game on the road to the popularity it enjoys today.

Red Stockings Popularized Game from Coast to Coast

When the first "play for pay" team in America was organized in Cincinnati in 1869, the game of baseball was in its genesis and few people had scarcely heard of it. But less than two years later the game was being played from coast to coast.

It was the amazing Red Stockings who sowed the seeds with a victorious march from coast to coast in 1869 when they engaged teams in cities and hamlets from the Atlantic to the Pacific on a tour which awakened an interest in the game the country over.

75TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

By June of 1870 the Cincinnati team had yet to taste its first defeat and the club was the talk of the land. In the larger cities, score by innings of Reds' games were being posted in prominent locations — an innovation in those days. The $64 question then was who would end Cincinnati's remarkable streak. Every club in the nation endeavored to schedule the Red Stockings knowing that to defeat the all-conquering club was to attain nation-wide fame in one fell swoop.

The inevitable finally occurred on June 14, 1870 when the mighty Reds succumbed to the Atlantics of Brooklyn in a stunning upset which climaxed the Red Stockings' streak at 130 games.

But the fabulous Reds still were the eclat of baseball. By that time they had not only kindled a keen interest in the game across the land but had opened an entirely new field for remuneration on the basis of athletic skill.

Thousands of young men sought to make a livelihood by playing baseball. The game spread like wildfire with a rapid formation of new clubs and leagues which led to competition for players, a consequent rise in salaries and the ultimate growth of the game to the stature it enjoys today in its enviable role as — AMERICA'S NATIONAL PASTIME!

NATIONAL LEAGUE FORMED IN 1876

When the National League was organized on February 2, 1876, Cincinnati was one of the eight original members. The Red Stockings took their place as a charter member along with clubs from Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Boston, Hartford, Philadelphia and New York.

Cincinnati has shared in the glorious history of the league ever since with the exception of an eight-year span from 1881 to 1889. The club was expelled in 1881 for refusing to abide by a league order demanding that Cincinnati cease the practice of selling beer in the stands.

During the 1881-1889 period the Red Stockings played in the American Association until that loop folded in 1890, whereupon they returned to the National League. By then the league had decided to expand to twelve clubs and embraced teams from St. Louis, Washington, Baltimore and Louisville, the latter also having dropped from the ranks in the interim.

In 1900 the league deemed a 12-club line-up a bit bulky and dropped the franchises of Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and St. Louis to create an eight-team league and consequently adopted the make-up the loop has maintained to this day.

ALL TIME REDLEG GREATS TO RETURN FOR EXHIBITION GAME JUNE 19

The feature of Cincinnati's Anniversary Year program will be a reunion of the club's former greats in June topped off by a three inning exhibition game on June 19 which will match the All Time All Star Redleg Team against a picked nine of other Red immortals. This game will be played prior to the Red-Brooklyn night game.

Selection of the All-Time team was accomplished by an extensive poll conducted last year throughout the ranks of the Cincinnati Reds Alumni Association, the only group of its kind in the major leagues.

Ballots were mailed to every living "old grad" and the vote resulted in the selection of the following:

Frank McCormick, 1B
Hughie Critz, 2B
Eddie Miller, SS
"Heinie" Groh, 3B
Eddie Roush, OF

Ival Goodman, OF
"Chick" Hafey, OF
Ernie Lombardi, C
Bucky Walters, RHP
Eppa Rixey, LHP

This galaxy of luminaries will meet a picked nine of former Reds who finished high in the All Star balloting.

MONUMENT IN HONOR OF CLUB'S FIRST MANAGER

On the afternoon of June 18, one day preceding the June 19 festivities, a group of Redleg All Stars will participate in a solemn ceremony at Cincinnati's Spring Grove Cemetery where a monument will be unveiled at the grave of Charles H. Gould, the first Cincinnati manager in the National League.

The monument will bear the following inscription:

This monument erected in 1951 by the Cincinnati
Baseball Club Company on the occasion of the 75th anniversary of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs.

In the memory of

CHARLES HARVEY GOULD

August 21, 1847 — April 10, 1917 — First National League Manager of the Cincinnati Red Stockings — 1876

LATHAM TO THROW OUT FIRST BALL AT OPENER

Another highlight of the Reds' anniversary-year program will bring 91-year old Arlie Latham, the oldest living former National League player, to Cincinnati on April 16 to throw out the first ball at the Reds' 1951 opening game. Arlie played with the old Red Stockings of 1890-95 and thus also enjoys the distinction of being the senior member of the Reds' Alumni Association.
